Bilingual Poetry Reading for Children and Families at the Worcester Public Library

Worcester, MA – The Worcester Public Library (WPL) will host a “Bilingual Poetry Reading for Children and Families” on Wednesday, August 10 at the Main Library, 3 Salem Square.

Join WPL for an international gathering of Latino writers, including Worcester Poet Laureate Juan Matos, and Worcester Youth Poet Laureate Adael Mejia, as well as Argentinian poet and composer María Inés Iacometti, Dominican poet Juan Freddy Armando, and local poets/artists Belen Atienza, Edmy Angélica Ortiz, Leonardo Nin, Fadi Yousef, and Lucelia de Jesús.

“We look forward to a fun afternoon of poetry, music, accents & rhythms, diversity, and love for culture,” said Iris Delgado, Youth Services Manager.

The public are welcome to join WPL to celebrate the joy and rhythm of poetry. This program is best for families with kids ages 7 and up.
